Through hands-on experience, your child will develop a creative and inquiring mind, a wholesome attitude toward himself/herself and others, and loving awareness of God.

VI. CURRICULUM

Today we try to teach the whole child; that means we provide activities that develop the mind, body, and spirit. We know that until people feel good about themselves, they cannot feel good about others and cannot learn to develop their potential. Most early childhood teachers believe their primary task is to help each child feel good about who he is.

The curriculum used in our child care is MS State University Early Childhood Institute.

A. Promote spiritual growth by:

1. helping each child grow in the knowledge of and appreciation for God, Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, and the Bible;
2. helping each child develop positive and wholesome feelings toward the church and Christian people;
3. helping each child believe he/she is a person of worth;
4. laying a foundation for later religious commitment when the child reaches accountability.

B. Promote intellectual growth by:

1. providing each child a base for interpreting and understanding by his continuous encounters with the social and physical world;
2. expanding each child's curiosity about himself and his world;
3. encouraging each child to think of himself, to solve problems, to follow suggestions, and to carry out planned procedures to the best of his ability at his own speed;
4. helping each child cultivate attitudes, habits, and appreciations that will enable him to live in his environment.

C. Promote social growth by:

1. helping each child develop his ability to have satisfying experiences in working and playing with others of his own age as well as associating with adults;
2. guiding each child's growth and ability to cope with individual and group problems;
3. helping each child to learn to respect others and their rights, ideas and property;
4. helping each child become a more friendly, likable, thoughtful and helpful person.

D. Promote physical growth by:

1. helping each child achieve good muscular development and coordination, eye-hand coordination, visual discrimination, and an awareness of spatial relationships.
2. guiding each child to establish desirable health and safety habits;
3. helping each child grow in understanding of and appreciation for his body, its resources and its limitations.

E. Promote emotional growth by:

1. helping each child mature in his emotional responses, express emotional responses in acceptable ways and face and overcome emotional problems;
2. guiding each child in awareness of his unique, creative potential;
3. assisting each child in building self-confidence;
4. stimulating each child to be responsive to beauty in all of its many manifestations.

IX. GOALS FOR PARENTS

1. To represent Christ and Highland Learning Center in a Christian manner.

2. To help meet the needs of the community for quality early childhood Christian education and child programs.

X. DISCIPLINE POLICY

A. At Highland Learning Center, children are treated with love and respect by our staff, never punished, embarrassed or criticized. Appropriate behavior is expected from the children, but we know there will be incidences which require attention. It is our desire to give children the reasons behind behaving a certain way. This is appropriate discipline - teaching acceptable behavior and self control.

B. Disciplinary practices shall:

1. be directed toward teaching the child acceptable behavior;
2. help in building the child's self-esteem;
3. be consistent and individualized for each child;
4. be appropriate to the child's level of understanding, and
5. never be humiliating, frightening or physically harmful to the child.

C. Discipline Techniques:

1. Three basic rules in all classes at the center are as follows:
  - a. You cannot hurt others
  - b. You cannot hurt yourself
  - c. You cannot hurt the property

If a child is openly defiant or willfully rebellious toward the teacher or misbehaves in such a way the he/she is invading the rights of the other children (i.e. hitting, biting, kicking, using foul language, etc.) or disrupts the classroom so that teaching is interrupted our teacher will follow the policy of...

2. Kindly, but firmly, the teacher will explain the correct way to handle a problem that is causing the child to misbehave. Many times, simply, giving the child acceptable choices, or redirecting their attention will correct the behavior.

3. The second time the teacher will let the child take a “time out” to either “cool off,” regain control, and/or think about his or her behavior. If the child cannot gain control, or refuses to make the acceptable choice for correcting his/her behavior, the director may be asked to intervene. She will follow the same steps as the teacher.
4. If the child does not correct his/her behavior, the parent will be called to help with the situation by offering help from home and/or suggestions.
5. In extreme cases where the child repeatedly causes harm to other children or staff and/or refuses to cooperate with the teacher, a conference will be arranged with the Director, Parents, and Child Care Committee to determine if staff is equipped to handle the situation. If the decision is made that it is in the best interest of the child and the center that the child be dismissed, every effort will be made to help the parents and the child locate adequate services.

Punishment, corporal or verbal, will not be used at this center. Punishment refers to negative consequences to control behavior through fear and intimidation. Punishment causes poor self-esteem, and it does not teach children acceptable behaviors or self control.

XI. BITING POLICY

- A. Biting is not an uncommon occurrence with children, specifically Toddlers. It can occur for many reasons including being tired, frustrated, hungry, teething, lack of self control, invasion of space, or even for attention - positively or negatively. Biting, also, tends to be impulsive, therefore, they do not think about what they did as being hurtful. Care givers in the class give their undivided attention to the children, but often times in a classroom setting, biting happens so quickly that it is difficult to prevent.
- A. When biting occurs, the Care giver will focus their attention to the victim, rather than the child who bit. By doing this, they avoid reinforcing negative behavior (biting) with attention. Secondly, the Care giver will clean the bite with antiseptic and apply a bandage, even if the bite does not break the skin. Applying an ice pack for a few moments will also help. The Care giver should allow the biter to stroke the victim, showing how to treat their friends lovingly. This allows both children to learn appropriate ways to touch and relate to each other. Parents will be notified if the bite is of a serious nature or is in a prominent place, such as the cheek. The one bitten will receive an accident report, the parent of the biter will also receive one. This matter, as other matters in our center, will be treated with confidentiality.

- C. Our goal is to lovingly teach the appropriate behavior which is (1) we can not hurt our friends, (2) we cannot hurt ourselves, (3) we cannot hurt toys, belongings, etc. The Care giver will not take away toys, privileges, food, or place the biter in time out. Children will not be physically (bite them back, etc.) or verbally punished for biting. We simply teach the children how to love each other and treat our friends. The Care giver also shows the biter where he/she hurt his/her friend and made him/her sad. If a biter is present, the Care giver will closely monitor the child's interaction with other children, redirecting him/her as needed. Should a biter have two occurrences in one day, the parents will be called as a warning. Once a child has bitten three times in one day the parent will need to pick up the child immediately. Should the child bite for three consecutive days, the parent will need to keep the child home for the next two days, at which time a probationary period will be determined.

XII. PARENT COMMUNICATION

Parents of Pre/3-Pre/4 will receive a weekly progress report containing information about the child's behavior if necessary or requested. Notes will be made by the teacher concerning areas the child may be having difficulty. You may contact the teacher at any time to discuss the information on the report. Parents of Infants and Toddlers will receive their child's report daily. Please do not discuss progress or concerns in classroom when children are present. This also disrupts the classroom time.
